From the Committee

Eventing in Queensland has a enemy. It's not animal, vegetable or mineral. It's not another human, or an organisation. We can't see it, but we can see the devastation it is leaving behind. It's killing our friends, and horses. And we are in danger of it killing our sport.

This enemy is called Hendra.

Let us unite and become a formidable force.

Equestrian Queensland has circulated a survey asking their members about their position on the Hendra Issue. Please follow the link in the email and complete the survey.

The first international event for 2015 is done and dusted. Fig Tree Pocket's August event was, as usual, a well supported event. We now move on to Warwick for the second of the International series.

Warwick Horse Trial sponsor, Inglewood Quarries has been emptying truck loads of material on the grounds, and the volunteers have been trimming the jumps in preparation for this event.

I took a road trip a couple of weekends ago and went down to Tamworth, where many Queenslanders were competing. What a fantastic facility they have. It was a challenging cross country course, and all our Queensland riders should be proud of their outcome for the weekend. Eventing Queensland is proud of you all. I did notice Charlotte needed a wheelbarrow to take her prizes away from presentation.

One of your committee members is soon to be walking his lovely lady down the aisle. We would like to take this opportunity to wish Matt and Ashleigh a very long and happy life together as Mr & Mrs Gaske.

2015 Weekend of Excellence

Eventing Queensland have organised a Weekend of Excellence for the last weekend in November (28 & 29 November). The weekend will be an opportunity to gain skills to kick start the eventing season on 2016.

The Awards night will be a feature of this weekend, and a celebration of the achievements of our riders. More details are featured further in OnCourse

Eventing Queensland Equipment

Eventing Queensland has been fortunate to receive funding from Equestrian Queensland to upgrade the existing set of Walkie-Talkies. The new set were used at the recent Fig Tree Pocket event, and appreciated by all. The existing set will be offered to Fraser Coast Horse Trials, but will still be available if other clubs require them.

These walkie-talkies are used as critical line of communication at events. It is so very, very important for this line of communication to be uninterrupted. If you bring your own communication devices to an event, so that you can keep up-to-date, please, please lock your devices, so that they do not interrupt the event communication channel.

Facebook

Eventing Queensland Facebook Group will be closing on September 1. Up until this date facebook users are being asked to like the new Eventing Queensland Page.

Facebook has become an important tool to get information to our Eventing community. It is used at events to alert riders to draw changes, and other information for the competition. It prompts riders about upcoming competitions and activities, keeping everyone in the loop.

Eventing Queensland Squads

2016 Eventing Queensland squads will be announced later in the year. However, if you meet the criteria for inclusion in a squad, you can apply to be involved in Squad activities prior to the announcement. The Squad criteria is available on the Eventing Queensland webpage – follow the link – 2015 State Squads and Teams

Riders are required to send the qualifying criteria to Eventing Queensland for consideration.

Horse Health Declaration

Just a reminder that Horse Health Declaration are required for every Horse attending an event, including any non-competitive arrivals.

It is as easy as pre-populating the form with all the horses you take to a competition, and then simply crossing of the horses you didn't bring to the event. Keep a stash in your float and they will always be handy, and you will never forget to have one.

Forms can be downloaded – follow the link – Horse Health Declaration.

Medical Information

Only riders with medical conditions are required to wear medical armbands. All riders are required to provide the name and contact details for their Next-of-Kin. It is preferable for the contact details to be a person accompanying the rider to the event.

Rule 523.3

It is the rider's responsibility to present to the medic's after a fall at the event, either in the warm-up area or the competition area.

Medic's may need access to the Next-of-Kin information, if the injuries require it.

2016 Calendar of Events

With only approx. 120 days left in 2015, it is time to start thinking about 2016.

The 2016 Calendar is available on the Webpage – follow the link - Calendar
