BIOSECURITY & COVID RECOMMENDATIONS FOR PARTICIPANTS

Primary responsibility for biosecurity at equestrian events lies with the all attendees. All participants should be aware that you have a biosecurity obligation to take all reasonable steps to ensure your activities do not spread a pest, disease or contaminant. Participants are asked to ensure good biosecurity practices at home, and to adhere to the following:

- stay home if you are sick or have been in contact with anyone that has COVID-19
- ensure the event organisers have the details of any support person who has accompanied you to the event
- ensure practice social distancing (1.5 metres) and hand hygiene
- complete an HHD for each horse
- prior to attending ensure horses are clean, and hooves are picked clean of all solid material and washed
- prior to attending clean vehicles and equipment accompanying horses to remove all solid material that could contain disease agents
- DO NOT to bring sick horses to the event. Sick animals may get worse during transport and infect other horses. Visually inspect horses to be transported and check rectal temperatures on the morning of the event. If in doubt, ask your vet to examine the horse
- provide truthful, accurate information as required
- carry out instructions from the horse health official
- monitor your horse's health throughout the event and notify the horse health official if you see any signs of illness
- if you notice strange behaviour or signs of disease in your horse, or any horse, report it immediately to the event organiser so they can determine the risk to other horses. Do not move the horse
- not to share tack and equipment, including food and water containers, between horses
- to minimise contact between horses and between other people and your horse(s). Discourage people from touching your horse as this is a key way for disease to spread from horse to horse
- not to allow horses to eat any other horse's feed
- to take home any leftover feed or place in designated compost site
- pick up your horses manure and place in designated manure site
- wash hands between horse contacts, Wash your hands with clean water, or disinfect with waterless hand sanitiser.
