If you haven't already got the app installed on your device, you can download it from the Google Play Store or the Apple App Store. Search for "Nominate Jumping"
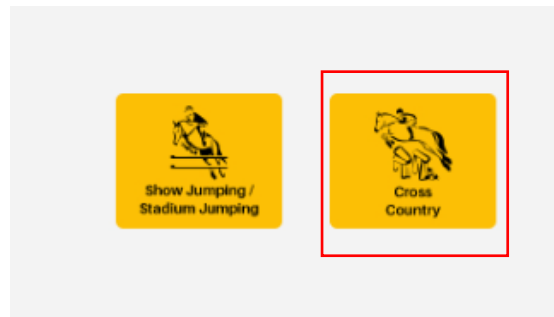

Login using the username and password allocated to you.
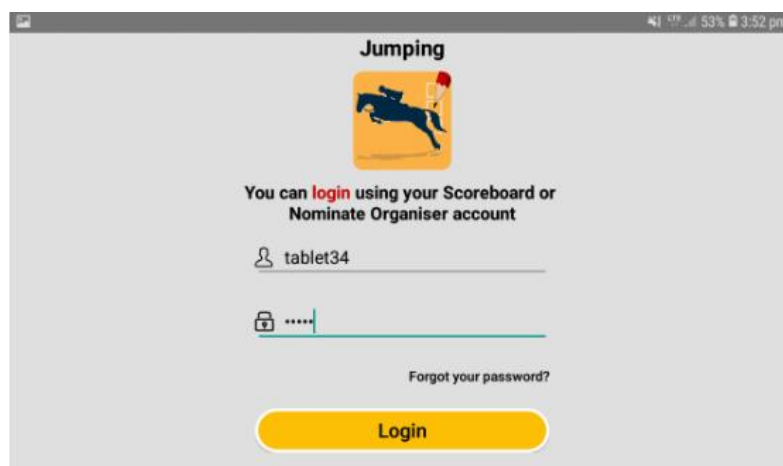

Once you have logged in, you will see a list of events that you can choose from. Click on the event you are currently at.
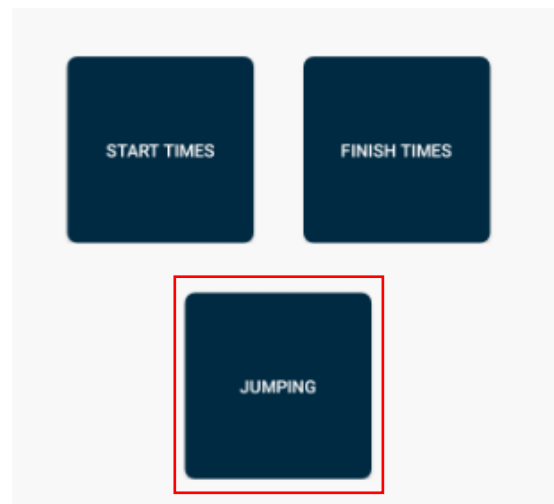

Once the event has been selected, click on cross country.

You will then see a list of classes that you can score for. Make sure you select the correct height. You will need to come back out to this page to change to a different class when the current class has finished.

Once you have selected the class, click on jumping.

Before you start scoring, you will need to select which jumps you are scoring for. Click on the cog wheel at the top right hand side of the screen.
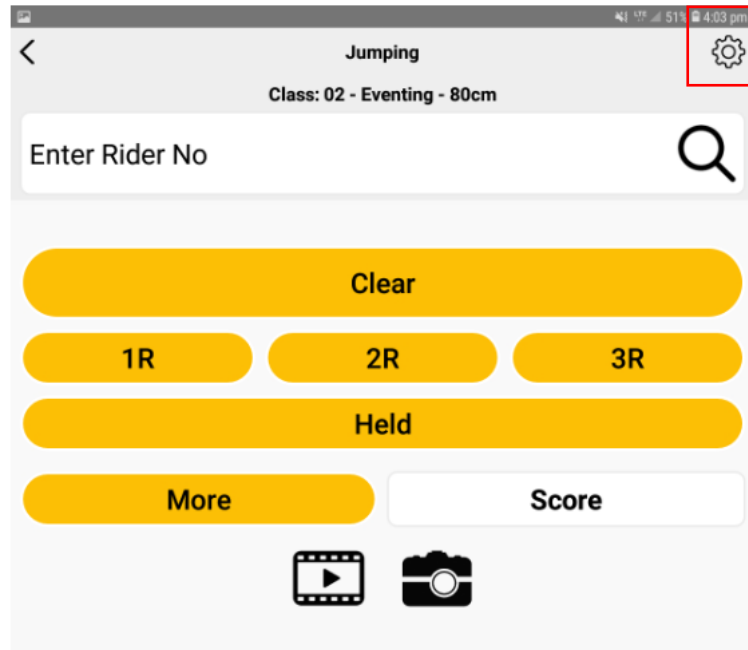

This will bring up a full list of all jumps setup for this class. Make sure you choose all jumps you are scoring for on this screen. You will need to do this for each class you are scoring for before you start scoring but it only needs to be done once before the class has started. Once a jump has been selected, it will show a red tick on the right hand side of the screen. Once you have selected all jumps, click ok.
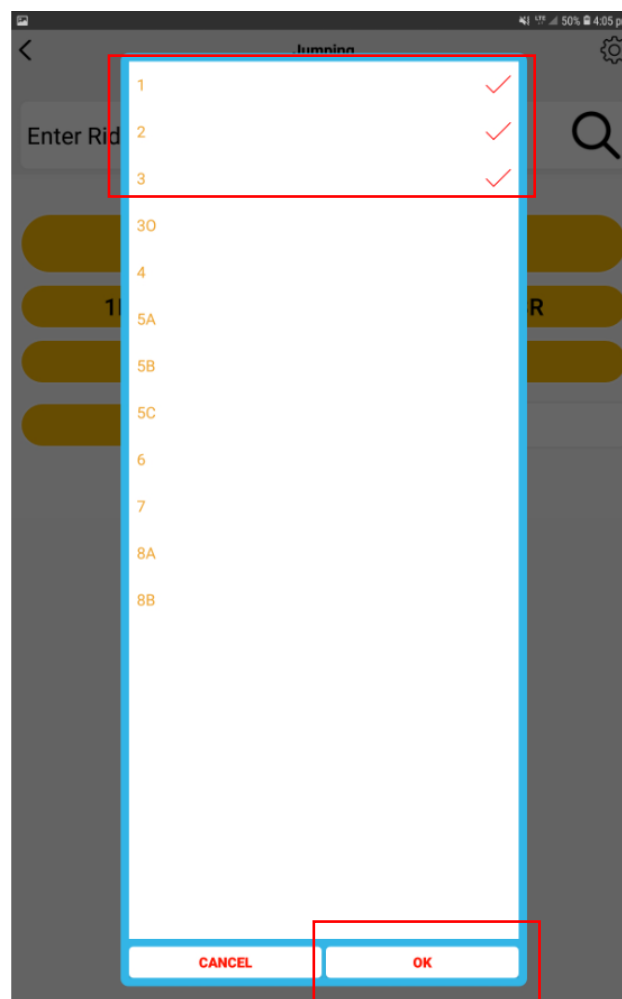

You will be taken back to the jump scoring page. Click on the "enter rider no" box to type in rider number and click on the magnifying glass on the number pad to search. Alternatively, click on the magnifying glass to bring up a full list of riders. Click on select beside the rider.
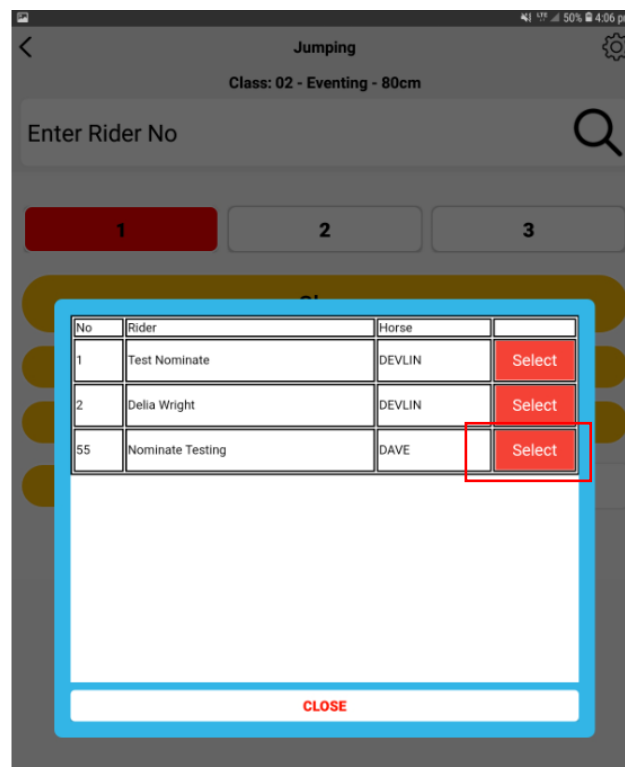

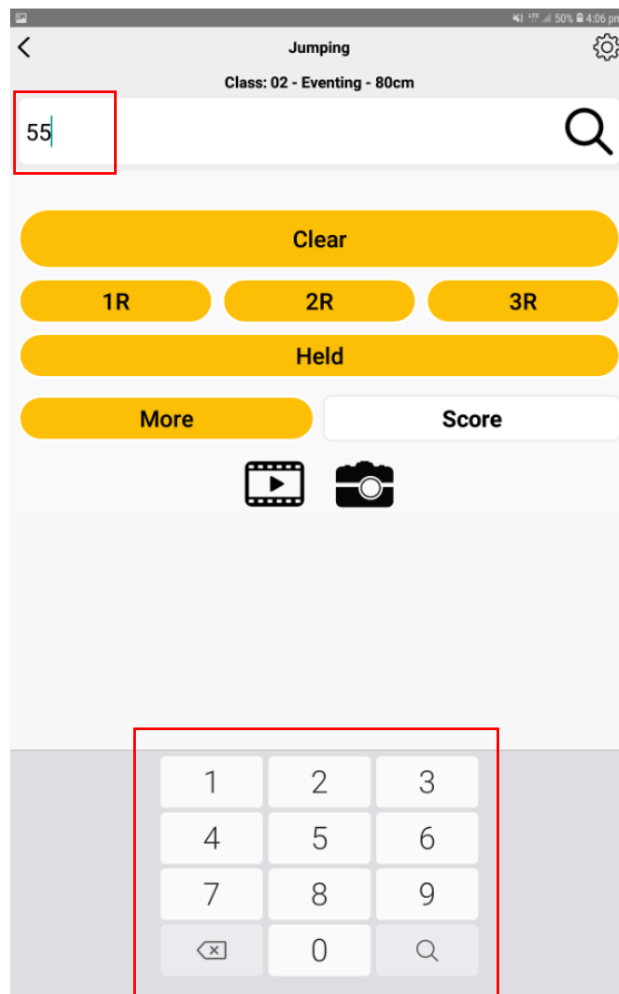

Once the rider has been selected their number, rider name and horse name will show just underneath the rider number box. Ensure you have the correct number selected.

If you are scoring for multiple jumps, these will show above the clear button. The selected jump will appear in red.

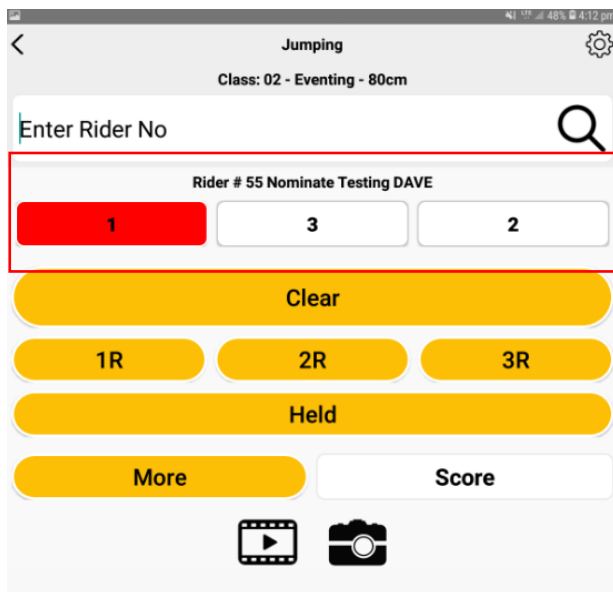

Once the rider has jumped the jump, you can enter their scores. You will see the most common scores listed on the screen. Click on the score and it will show in the score box on the lower right hand side, beside the more button. You can then click on the next jump to score the next jump or search the next rider if you are only looking after one jump. Ensure the jump you are scoring is in red if you are scoring multiple. If a rider is clear, it will show as a – in the score box. 1R, 2R, 3R etc will also show in this box.
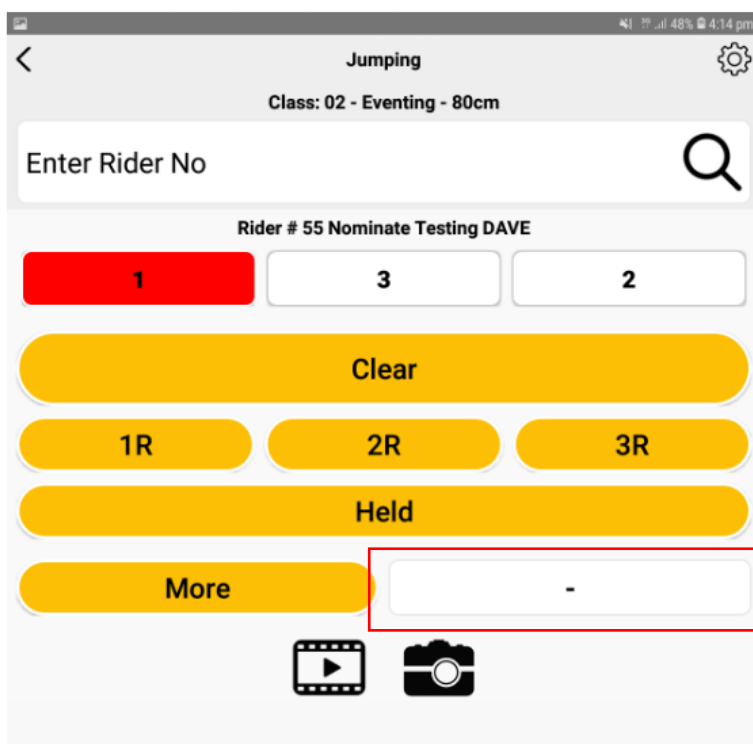

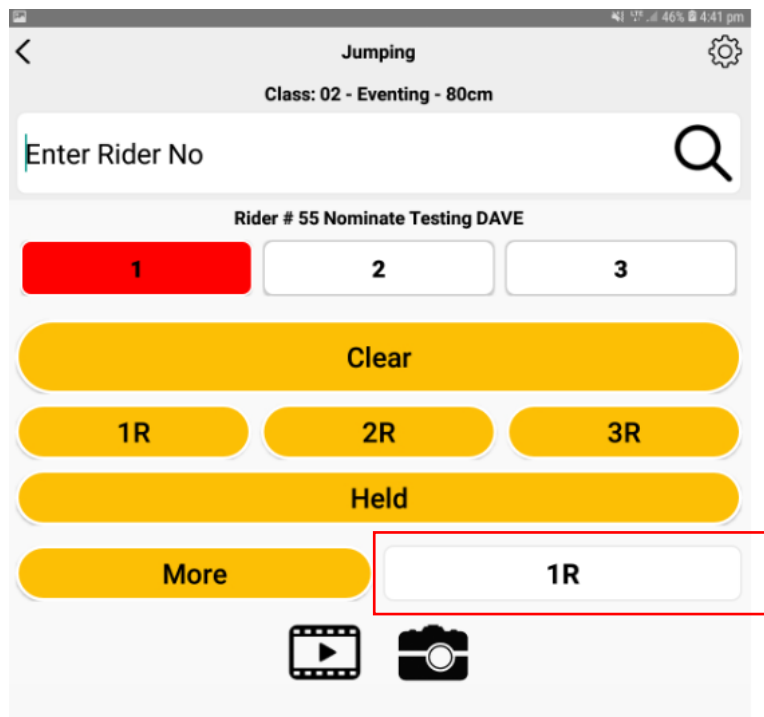

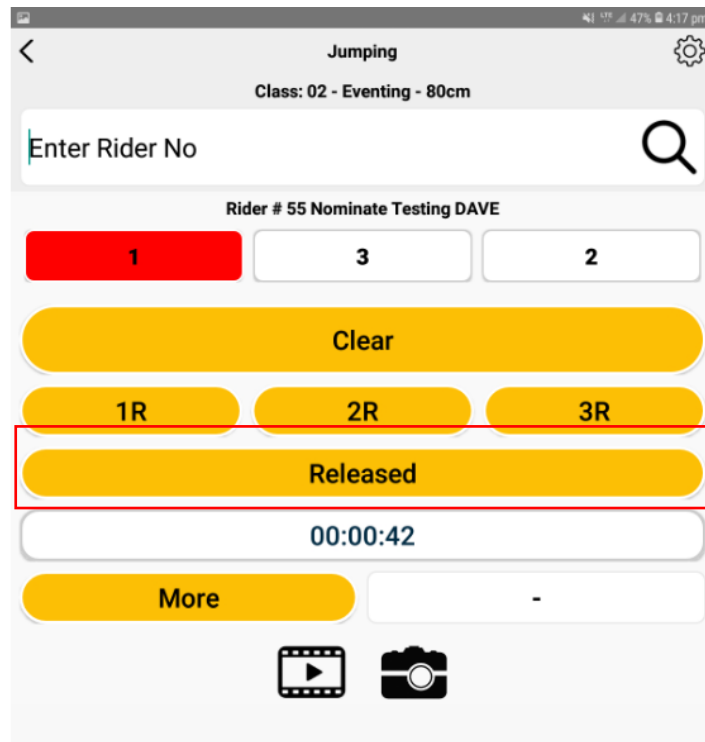

The more button shows additional scoring options, these are the less common scoring options you might need to use occasionally. If required, click on the words for the scoring option needed and click ok.
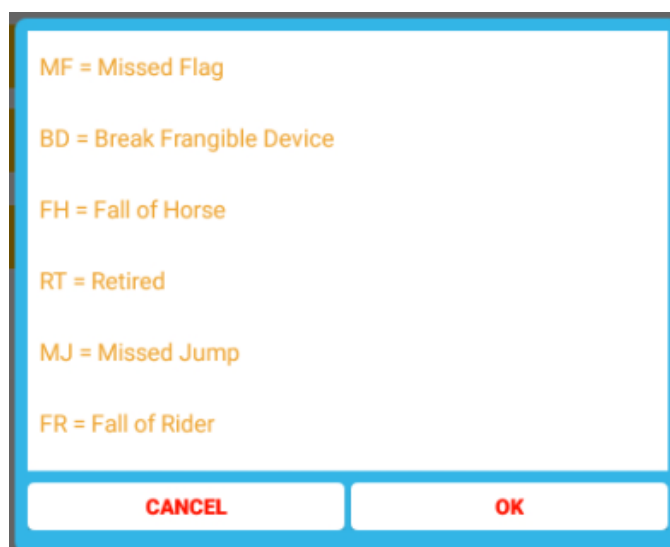

If a rider is held at your jump, click on the held button. This will start a timer. When you are ready to restart the rider, click on the released to stop the timer.

You also have the option of videoing riders as they come over the jump. This is particularly useful if you are at a difficult jump like a water jump for example. If there are any queries, this will allow the Cross Country Controller to view the video of the horse in question and make a determination. Click on the camera button (bottom right side of the screen). The app may ask you to allow it to take pictures and record video. Please click on allow. Once the camera opens on your phone/tablet, click on the red record button and you can stop at any time. Once you have clicked on stop, you will see a retry or ok at the top of the screen. If you are happy with the recording, click on ok. This will then take you back to the app to continue scoring.
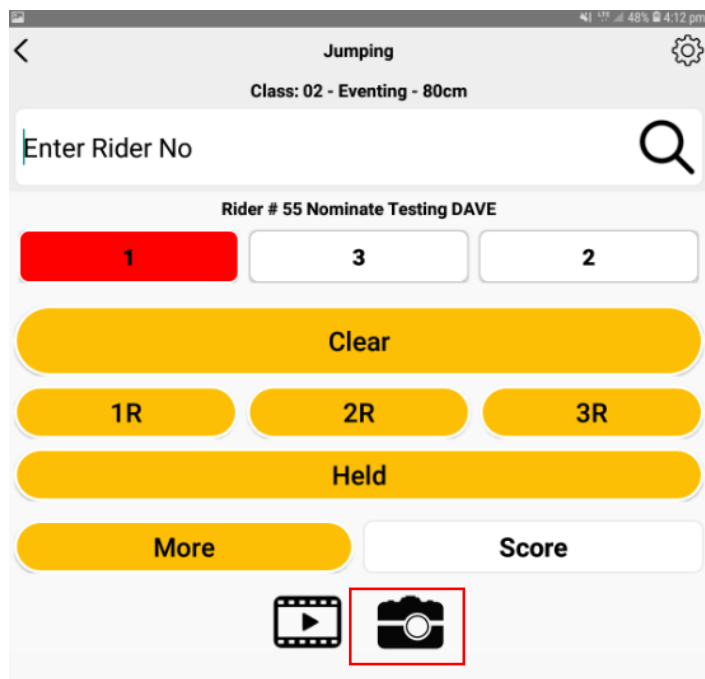

Once you have scored the rider and all jumps you are in charge of, click on either the enter rider number area to type in the rider number or click the magnifying glass to select the rider from the class list and continue the same steps mentioned above.

If you have made a mistake with a score and need to amend it, click on the score box. This will pop up a box asking if you want to clear the score. Click on yes. You can then re-enter the score for that jump/horse.
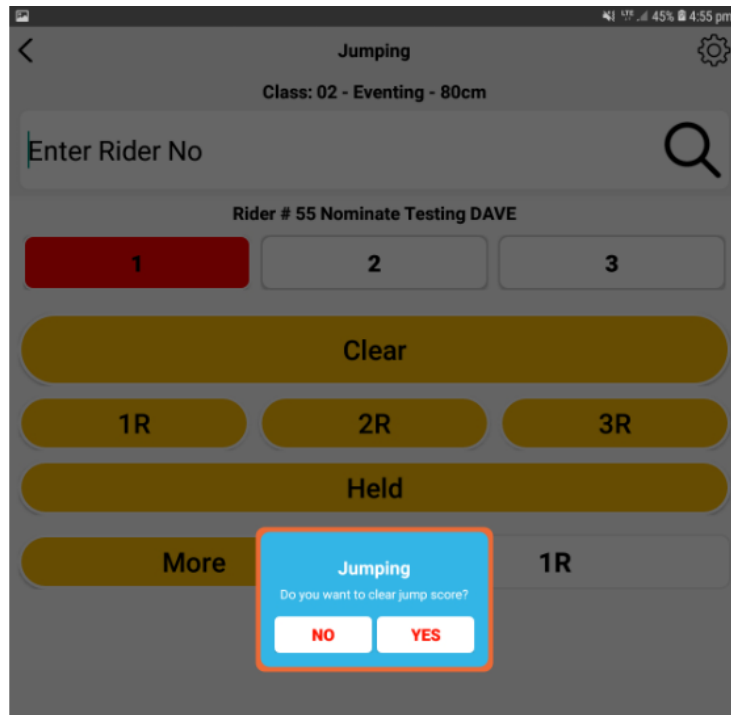

Once you have finished the class, click on the back arrow in the top left hand side of the screen to go back to the class page to select the next class/height that you will be scoring.
